Public Safety, composed of the Mayor, the Chief of the Fire Department and the head of the Engineering Department at 4 o'clock this afternoon.
"Before I determined," said Major Price yesterday, "to have these athletic entertainments in the armory, I consulted with a prominent member of the Grounds and Building Committee, and put before him my plan and its objects. HIS opinion was that he could see no objection whatever on the part of the committee against my utilizing the armory for such purposes, and he expressed his approval of the plan.

"No one but he who is familiar with managing a military organization at the present day can realize the difficulties in the way of securing men for callistment in the companies. I thought it wise to institute some plan to offer as an inducement to the men to enlist something other than the dry routine and sometimes arduous task of drilling. Heving many men as members of the battalion who were of athletic tendency. I decided to devolo athletics. In the past our teams have made creditable showing when competing against other teams of superior training and condition, and the men were highly enthusiastic. From the very beginning the end to be obtained has seemed to justify the means used. Having no funds to promote athletics, the manager and myself resorted to wrestling bouts to arouse enthusiasm and at the same time help us in our finances, which would mean an increasing number of recruits.

"The field day, which was conducted on March 17, brought forth no criticism whatever, but when the wrestling match, which may be deemed by some as a feature not taken part in by members of the battalion, was not on it brought forth trouble, lecause it could not strictly be construed as for military purposes.

"The section in the Code states that seats shall be firmly secured to the floor. I tried to get the Inspector's consent to arrange seats secured to slats in blocks of 75 or 100, but without avail.

"Meeting with no satisfaction, I determined to appeal to the Board of Public Safety. As a matter of fact, the opinion of an orfical of the city, which had a crowd would have any difficulty in vacating the building under any circumstance, with ease and without danger. Further, the ordinance in r
